

AVTEC Denali Training Fund - FY14 - Building Maintenance
Quarterly Narrative Report
Due: Jan 15, 2013

1. Progress toward performance outcomes.

The next class will not be held until June 2014 so the only activities that have been taking place during this quarter are updates, fine tuning and adjustments made in order to improve performance and enhance the training for that group. The Instructors reported the following information: "We have been working on fine tuning the class room material and have also changed the math presentations to hopefully bring the students along slowly during the instruction. We have also broken the schedule to allow for 2 testing days or half days."

2. Challenges, barriers, or concerns regarding project progress.

Documented above and in previous report, no additional information to add.

3. Lessons learned in the areas of project administration and management, project implementation, partnership relationships and other related areas.

Nothing new, all documented in last report.

4. Technical assistance requests that assist with the successful completion of the project or program.

None at this time. Thank you for the continued support.
